

APHRODISIAS, TURKEY – Stone Masonry

Challenge

Archaeological repair work requiring the minimum of intervention.

Solution

After carefully planning, stonework in buttresses and arches was reassembled to prevent one of the two the great arcades from falling at the top of the second century stadium.

Results

Over the past 15 years the professional and highly skilled team from Cliveden Conservation has contributed to the ongoing task of ensuring that Aphrodisias is one of the finest preserved archaeological sites in Asia Minor.

Client: New York University together with The Friends of Aphrodisias, the British Support Group.
